Past generations of students have challenged and toppled unjust laws and practices around voting, education, politics, and public life. This generation’s young people must accomplish a Constitutional Right to a Quality Public School Education.